

Keyboards at Christmas

Written by Editor

Wednesday, 05 December 2012 07:30

The Music Ministry at The Baptist Church of Beaufort is delighted to offer the community a wonderful opportunity to enjoy the “sounds of the season” at its Keyboards at Christmas Concert. The program features seven keyboardists from the BCOB staff and congregation who will be sharing instrumental music in a variety of configurations using four pianos, pipe organ, and synthesizer---around 660 keys with all of them “in action” on a few numbers!

The instrumental repertoire runs the gamut from 18th century classical literature to excerpts from 19th century ballet to contemporary sacred and secular music to spectacular familiar carol arrangements. There will also be opportunities for participation in singing community carols and favorite songs of the season.

Most of the featured keyboardists are either staff accompanists or serve as worship pianists at BCOB. Those participating in this project include Judy Copeland, Cindy Duryea, Linda Keene, Meredith Keene, Glenn Ragsdale, Mary Hope Roseneau, and Randy Wallace. The Baptist Church of Beaufort is surely blessed with musical talent, and they look forward to sharing their gifts with their community.

Keyboards at Christmas will be Sunday, December 16 at 3 pm. Admission is free, but donations will be gratefully accepted.